A bill has passed the Senate removing certain disabilities from one Lewis Cook. I seems that this gentleman was once Treasurer of White Pine county, but he became involved in stock operations and finally went into bankruptcy. It also turned out that he had used the county funds in his speculations. Thirty thousand dellars is the extent of the steal, and this Cook promises to refund provided the law is not used against him. The man is now in Japan. Creswell asked a very pertinent question in opposing this bill, whether it would be proper to release Boss Tweed and his associates from prison provided they should refund their ill gotten gains. He was not in tavor of compromising a crime.

A petition is being extensively circulated in Carson by the friends of the bill to amend the bullion tax law, relative to the action of the Ormsby county delegates in the Legislature. The petition recommends that they be released from any condition, pledge or promise, and requests that they shall act upon the measure as they shall conceive to be for the best interests of the State at large and their constituents.

Senate Bill No. 126, promises to be the most important one of the session. It is the compromise bill. It was introduced yesterday by the Committee on Ways and Means, and it includes the Nichols' bill to levy on personal property for the col-lection of tax. The bill was read a secand time by title, and referred to the Judiciary Committee.

According to announcement, the Third House met last evening in the Senate Chamber, and Mr. R. Parkinson was called to the chair. A large crowd was in attendance, and the compromise bill, the bullion tax bill, the wife beating bill and others were satisfactorily dispensed

The announcement on the streets yesterday afternoon to the effect that the list of States had been completed and H yes elected President, was contra-dicted in the dispatch which announced that both the Senate and House had adjourned until Monday.

The next social of the Arlington Club will be given next Wednesday evening. at the Arlington House.

In the play of the Winning Hand, a performed on Thursday evening in the Theater in Carson, there is a certain place where the young man offers to make the young lady a bet. In case the former loses, then as a forfeit he is to kiss the latter, in case the situation is reversed then the latter is to kiss the former. This is similar to the case which is now going the rounds of the papers relative to a bet between two persons in the town of Beaver Falls, in Western Pennsylvania. A young lady bet a young man a kiss that Tilden would be elected -he to pay if Tilden won, she to pay if Hayes was elected. On the morning of the 8th he called and paid the bet; on the 9th he called and took it back. That evening she paid the bet. Next merning she took it back, and he paid; then she paid, and he paid, and so they have been kept busy by the contradictory dispatches ever since, and both declare their willingness and ability to hold out until Congress decides the question. They don't

On Friday evening a dance was held in Nevada City which was advertised in a very comical and characteristic manner. The notice commenced by saying that the dance would be a very gay affair, and that the musiciaus with their little fiddles and big fiddles and piano would join in performing for such of the folks as would want to dance. To come in and pay the price would be sixteen shillings, and if any man had not the gold then he could pay four half dollar pieces instead. The doors would be open at 7 o'clock and the sounding of the music would begin at 8. The dancers were expected to wear their go to meeting clothes, and to dispense with all carrying on for the time. After announcing the fact that a wholesome supper would be provided, it was stated that Grandfather Rolfe and certain others of the neighbors, whose names could be heard from the gossips of the town, would execute the minuet, as in their youth they had been accustomed to do, Then there was a postscript added that one of the brethren would keep a sharp lookout and all undue levity and sparking would be published, and another to the effect that at the end of each dance there would be a resting spell for the dancers to catch their breath and inquire for their neighbors. The final sentence was that good tunes would be played until the performers could no onger hold out to the delight of the good people assembled.

The Assembly was not in session yesterday, the members of that body having cleared up the file on Friday. The Senate, however, held both a forenoon and afternoon session, and then adjourned with a large amount of unfinished business on the file.

In Reno a Vigilance Committee is one of the probabilities of the near future. Such a reign of terror and lawlessness is said to exist there, that the law is powless, and the citizens propose to take the punishment into their own hands.

Could not the decision of the Electoral Commission in regard to certain electors in the Louisiana case, be applied to the case now before the Senate, that of Stone and Cohn? The circumstances are very similar.

The Third House last evening appropropriated $120,000 for the purchase of the homographic chart at 40 cents per copy. Tennant has struck a bonanza sure enough.

The Third House last evening concluded that the decision of the Electoral Commission in the Louisiana case must be sustained. The vote was a strict party one.

ROBBERS AT THE WHIPPING POST .-On Monday at 8:30 we left, and reached Hong Kong at 11 A. M. On the 23d Mr. Harlan told me there was to be a public flogging of two Chinese, I have often seen the backs of negroes in the United States with marks of the lash, but this is the first time I ever had a chance to see the cat-o'-nine-tails applied. The whipping post here is in the street at the base of a small triangular space, made by three streets, and immediately in front of the Harbor Master's office. A slab of granite rises about ten feet above a stone platform, and leaning against it is a wood-en scaffold. Here the men are fastened by a belt around their bodies and their arms extended at full length above them and held secure by a slip noose around the wrists. Each man received twenty five lashes, and up to the eighteenth they writhed, but after that drooped, and I thought the first one had fainted, but as the second acted in the same manner I came to the conclusion that the strain upon the nerves had reached its climax and that neither felt the lash. The backs. however, were a fearful sight. These fellows are to receive seventy-five lashes, twenty-five each, at three different times, for violence and robbery and pulling earrings out of China girls' ears. - Detroit Free Press.
